

The Eucharist is the vital centre of all that the Church is and does. At its heart is the real presence of the crucified, risen and glorified Lord, who continues his saving work among us. The Second Vatican Council reminded us: 'the most holy Eucharist holds within itself the whole spiritual treasure of the Church, namely Christ himself, our Passover and our living bread'. (cf. One Bread One Body 3) All who exercise a liturgical ministry need a proper preparation for their responsibilities. They are to have the competence to perform the particular ministry with which they have been entrusted. (cf. Celebrating the Mass 29)

What the Church says about...

The Liturgy of the Word

In the readings... God speaks to his people, opening up to them the mystery of redemption and salvation, and offering them spiritual nourishment; and Christ himself is present in the midst of the faithful through his word. By their silence and singing the people make God's word their own... Finally, having been nourished by it, they pour out their petitions in the Prayer of the Faithful for the needs of the entire Church and for the salvation of the whole world.

Silence The Liturgy of the Word is to be celebrated in such a way as to promote meditation, and so any sort of haste that hinders recollection must clearly be avoided. During the Liturgy of the Word, it is also appropriate to include brief periods of silence, accommodated to the gathered assembly, in which, at the prompting of the Holy Spirit, the word of God may be grasped by the heart and a response through prayer may be prepared. It may be appropriate to observe such periods of silence, for example, before the Liturgy of the Word itself begins, after the First and Second Reading, and lastly at the conclusion of the Homily.

The Ministry of Proclaiming the Word

In proclaiming the word of God from Sacred Scripture, readers exercise their responsibility in mediating the presence of Christ. God speaks to the assembly through them, and the impact of God's message will depend significantly on their conviction, their preparation, and their delivery.

Celebrating the Mass 41

Laypersons may be commissioned to proclaim the readings from Sacred Scripture. They should be truly suited to perform this function and should receive careful preparation, so that the faithful by listening to the readings from the sacred texts may develop in their hearts a warm and living love for Sacred Scripture.

The Reader proclaims the readings from Sacred Scripture, with the exception of the Gospel. They may also announce the intentions for the Prayer of the Faithful and, in the absence of a psalmist, proclaim the Psalm between the readings.

The psalmist's role is to sing the Psalm or other biblical canticle that comes between the readings. To fulfil this role correctly, it is necessary that the psalmist have the ability for singing and a facility in correct pronunciation and diction.

GIRM 99, 101, 102

Loving God, You have given us faith in You and in Your living Word. We ask You to help us grow in that faith as we meditate on Your Word, so that we may worthily proclaim the Word to our community of faith and by the life that we live.

We ask this through Christ, our Lord. Amen

Preparing to Read

In preparing to hear the Gospel proclaimed, the highpoint of the Liturgy of the Word, Christ's faithful people trace the sign of the Cross on their forehead, lips and heart.

The three-fold focus of that preparation is also a useful summary of the preparation a reader should make during the week before proclaiming the word.

- Understand the Reading. Considering what the writer is trying to say; what it means to me and my community; how it relates to the other readings and prayers at Mass; considering what God is saying in this word today.
- Practising the Proclamation of the reading. Speaking the words out loud, to see what challenges the work of proclaiming has in store; considering how to speak it so as to give fresh and authentic voice to God's living word.
- Spending time in prayer. Expressing one's love for God, and learning to trust in God's love for us. Praying for the community you are called to serve, that together, and

Read it through several times, silently & aloud

*Note words or phrases that strike you,
Note any questions that arise for you.*

Reflect/Meditate silently on what you have read.

Make a Prayer of something that strikes you.

Ask yourself how this text can impAct on your own life.

For as the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return there until they have watered they earth, making it bring forth
and sprout,
giving seed to the sower and
bread to the eater,
so shall my word be that goes
out from my mouth;
it shall not return to me empty,
but it shall accomplish that
which I purpose,
and succeed in the thing for which I sent it.

Isaiah 55:10-11

Lord, be on my lips and in my heart, that I may worthily proclaim Your Holy Word.

Romans 10:17 "So faith comes from hearing, and hearing
through the word of Christ."

Readers and their Ministry at Mass

The Lord has given me a disciple's tongue. God provides me with speech so that I may know how to reply to the wearied.
Each morning God wakes me to hear, to listen like a disciple.
